HAT WORKS MUSEUM

The Big Draw at Hat Works

On Saturday 11th and Sunday 12th October, visitors got to take part in the National Big Draw event.

Visitors were asked to do some drawing with their heads; using hard hats with poles attached and felt tips on the end!

It took some getting used to, but with a little practice, everyone got better! Participants of all ages embraced this weird idea and did some great artwork, which along with photos of the people taking part, is now on display in the Museum's café for all our visitors to see.

Come along and have a look.
